Euchre Club.

Miss Ella Pendleton entertained the Euchre Club, Thursday afternoon, at her home on College street, in a most charming manner. The house was beautifully decorated in ferns and potted plants of all kinds.

The hostess received her guests in the hall in her most charming way. With her, stood her attractive guests, Miss Ruth Scott, of Lexington, and Miss Mattie Weathers, of Avon.

The hostess was assisted in entertaining by Mrs. N. K. Foster, Mrs. Lewis Crutcher and, of course, with such charming personalities the party could not help being a grand success.

The guests played fast and furious, unconscious that time was passing so rapidly. After they had finished the games, a sumptuous meal course was served and all departed for their homes to think over the pleasant afternoon they had spent.

Among those present were, Mrs. Cornell, Miss Cornell, Mrs. Kidwell, Mrs. B. F. Johnson, Mrs. Harry Strother, Mrs. Bruce Duty, Mrs. Harvey Franklin, Mrs. Charles Parrish, Mrs. Roll Ratliff, Mrs. Harry Strossman, Mrs. George Green, Mrs. Ogden Crutcher, Mrs. Susan G. Anderson, Mrs. Lucien Beckner, Mrs. J. T. Beckner, Mrs. J. W. Ishmael, Mrs. H. H. Hall, Mrs. Sam Jeffries, Mrs. John T. H. O'Rear, Mrs. Ed. Clark, Mrs. Curtis Evans, Mrs. Hugh Menegar, Mrs. Crews Rash, Mrs. William Robb, Mrs. George Proctor, Mrs. Robert Scobee, Mrs. David Scobee, Mrs. N. R. Foster, Mrs. William Massie, Mrs. William French, Mrs. Ben Crutcher, Mrs. Mark Donovan, Mrs. W. H. Garnett, Mrs. T. Hart Robinson, Misses Kate Rash, Alan Crutcher, Ruth Scott, Mattie Weathers, Nancy Hodgkin, Evelyn Price.

A Delightful Musical.

Mrs. John G. Garner and Miss Garner entertained Mme. Hiddinga, Wednesday afternoon with a matinee musical. The artists of the afternoon were Mr. Bruce Reynolds, of Boston and Miss Virginia Parker, of Lexington. Miss Parker delighted her audience by the delicacy and understanding displayed in her work as an accompanist and also with her rendition of Mendelssohn's Wedding March. Mr. Reynolds is a pupil of Felix Winteritz and Grinberg of the New England Conservatory and was for sometime Concert-Meister of George W. Chadwick's orchestra. Mr. Chadwick is director of the New England Conservatory at Boston and has about 2,000 pupils. Mr. Reynolds' work is broad, yet delicate, and plainly shows the influence of that great and splendid violinist, Max Kreislich, with whom he was for some time associated. Two pieces, "The Serenade" by Drla and "Legende" by Wieniowski, so delighted the audience that after the close of the program, Mr. Reynolds was asked to repeat and the young artist graciously assented.

Don't forget the "Rube" Contest at the Auditorium Thursday night and come and see what is doing Saturday night.

DR. PORTER HAS CROWDED HOUSE

Three Conversions and Three Additions At Revival Services.

The First Baptist Church was crowded to the doors last night. Chairs had to be placed in the aisles and the gallery was filled. There were three conversions and three additions. Dr. Porter, of Lexington, preached the sermon and will preach again Thursday night.

The church authorities have endeavored to secure a larger audience room, but have found it impossible. Additional chairs will, however, be placed tonight.

Dr. Porter's subject was, "The Power of the Gospel."

His text was: Ro. 1:16—"I am not ashamed of the Gospel of Christ, for it is the power of God, unto salvation, to everyone, that believeth."

If anyone, had an amiable right to be ashamed of the humble beginnings of the gospel, surely it was Saul of Tarsus. He was a man of gentle breeding, and scholarly attainments. In truth, he was a regular F. F. Va. Hebrew of the Hebrews, of the strictest sect of the Pharisees.

He was probably the First Honor man at the school of Gamaliel, at Jerusalem, as he tells us that he excelled in the traditions of his people. When the grace of God came into his heart, his pride perished, and he tells us that he is the very least of the Apostles. There is nothing in this world, of which anyone should be proud, though there is much for which we should be thankful. Pride is not mentioned in the Bible except to be condemned.

I recently heard one remark, "I am poor but proud;" certainly a very pitiable condition for one to be in. The basis of pride, is, cash, clothes and the cemetery.

Proud of Day

Philip of Macedon remarked that he was particularly proud of a certain day, and being asked why of that particular day, replied, that it was on that day, that his horse had won the Olympic games, and Parmenion had won a great battle, and Alexander was born. Note that it was his horse that had won the games and his general had won the battle, and his wife had given birth to Alexander. His pride was wedded upon other performances.

Many Are Deterred.

Many are deterred from the Kingdom and from the churches, from a sense of shame, that is born of pride. Many a girl would rather dance, than be ridiculed for not dancing, by being called a wall flower. It is better to be a wall flower, than a cursed flower. People may laugh you into perdition, but cannot laugh you out of it. It was the pride of Napoleon, that caused him to divorce Josephine, the only woman who ever really loved him, and it was his inhuman treatment of his wife that caused his downfall.

Paul was not ashamed to preach the gospel, even at Rome, where he had heard the eloquence of a Cato and Cicero. When Paul preached the gospel at Rome, the Coliseum was in glory, and the palaces of the Caesars, in their splendor. The owl and bat fit through the broken arches of the Coliseum; and the palaces of the Caesars are crumbling to dust, but the gospel that Paul preached, still lives, conquering and to conquer.

Paul Not Ashamed.

Paul was not ashamed of the gospel, because of its power. It is the only power that can save. Other things may help, but the gospel alone, can save. Other things may whitewash a man, but the gospel can wash him white.

The Keely cure may help, but the God Almighty cure, never fails. The gospel gives life to one, who is dead in trespasses and sins.

The gospel is also a power that will preserve a man. Christ is "mighty to keep." He binds us with hooks of steel to himself. If we should fall, we will fall in the everlasting arms. If a Christian falls, he falls getting up, with his face again to the morning.

The gospel is also a power over the grave. Humanity's help ends with the grave. "Can storied urn, or animated bust, Back from its mansion call the fleeting breath, Can honor's voice, provoke the silent dust, Or flattery soothe the dull cold ear of death?"

Gospel For Everybody.

Neither was Paul ashamed of the universality of the gospel, for the power is promised to "everyone," that believeth. The gospel is the only free thing on earth, to everybody. The message of man is exclusive, but the message of Christ is inclusive. More and more the great monopolies are tightening their grasp about the throats of the people. If I should need malted milk for the sick child, I must go to a gigantic trust to purchase, at their own price. If the little child should die, I must purchase the coffin from the National Casket Co., and if I have not paid former bills, my child must go to its grave without a coffin. Should I wish to buy a steel fence, to enclose the lonely little grave, I must go to a billion dollar steel trust and pay double its worth, or do without it. Thank God the gospel is for every creature.

Simple Terms of Salvation.

Paul was not ashamed of the gospel, because of its simple terms of salvation—to everyone that "believeth." Not to everyone that worketh, or to everyone that is good enough, but to everyone that believeth. It was hard for Christ, that it might be easy for us. Only believe and you shall be saved. You may have entered this house tonight with curses on your lips, and you may leave the house, forgiven, with a song of deliverance in your heart.

Are you ashamed to confess to him tonight? Will you allow pride to deter you from your duty.

"Why should the spirit of mortal be proud.

Like a swift flying meteor, a fast flying cloud.

A flash of the lightning, a break of the wave,

And he passes from life to his cradle in the grave."

'Tis the wink of an eye, the draught of a breath,

From the blossom health, to the pale-ness of death

From the gilded saloon to the bier and the shroud,

Oh! why should the spirit of mortal be proud.

Death is just ahead of us, why not make preparation for it? True we must die, but we shall live again. I shall die, and though the winds of a thousand centuries sweep over my forgotten grave, yet out of my flesh I shall see God.

INTERESTING LECTURE AT THE HIGH SCHOOL

Rev. J. H. Mac Neill Talks to Pupils and Visitors on Daniel.

At the regular Wednesday talk at the High School, Rev. J. H. Mac Neill delivered a very interesting and entertaining talk to the scholars and a few visitors. These addresses by the pastors of the city are growing in favor and are being looked forward to eagerly by all the pupils.

The Story of Daniel.

Mr. Mac Neill spoke on "Daniel" and said in part:

The story of Daniel reads like a romance. Of regal birth, at 16 years of age he was carried captive to the great and wicked city of Babylon. Because of the comeliness and intellectual promise he was sent to the King's College and became a member of the King's family.

Here he was subjected to his first great temptation and here he formed his great purpose that became the secret of his victorious life. "He purposed in his heart that he would not defile himself with the King's meat."

Purpose of His Life.

This became the controlling purpose of his life. That boy of 16 was the stuff of which heroes are made. His purpose to be loyal to his God and to his religious convictions was put to its supreme test, when his political enemies conspired to destroy him—by having the King issue a proclamation that no petition be made to God or man for 30 days, on penalty of being cast into the lion's den.

Daniel had been accustomed to pray three times every day before an open window.

A Dreadful Penalty.

In the face of such a dreadful penalty will he neglect it now? Will he be untrue to his purpose—that would be to deny his God—that would be a cowardly surrender of his manhood. He was found upon his knees. He was cast into the lion's den but Jehovah to whom he was true and loyal preserved his life.

The lesson: It pays to stand for principle. The aphorism "Honesty is the best policy" makes personal interest the supreme thing. We should be honest for honesty's sake whether it is to our personal interest or not. There is a place for the modern Daniel in the business, and in the social life of our city. Be true to your faith, to your convictions, to your conscience, to your God—and the God of Daniel will never leave you nor forsake you. This is a very meagre outline of a most fascinating life story.

PERFECTING PLANS FOR ASSOCIATED CHARITIES

Committees on Constitution and Finance Are Appointed By Chairman.

A second meeting of the Committee in the interest of Associated Charities was held in the First Presbyterian Church Tuesday afternoon for the purpose of perfecting plans by which work can begin. The Chairman appointed a committee consisting of Messrs. J. W. Chambers, J. W. Gay and Rev. F. B. Wentworth to draw up a constitution to suit the needs of this city.

The finance committee consisting of Messrs. J. R. Martin, J. W. Chambers and George E. Tomlinson was instructed to begin soliciting funds at once.

The executive committee consists of Revs. Wentworth, Chandler, Mac Neill, Cumming and Crafton with Messrs. J. W. Chambers, C. E. Lydane, Christie Bush, J. W. Gay, J. D. Simpson, J. L. Bosley, R. D. Ramsey, George Hon, R. P. Taylor, John E. Garner, F. C. Wheeler, J. R. Martin and B. R. Jonett.

The secretary was instructed to ascertain as to whether or not Fairfax Christian Church, Primitive Baptist Church and the Catholic Church will co-operate in the work.

Comments.

We believe in charity, helping the needy and assisting the feeble in their efforts to make an honest living. The various churches and secret orders have done a great work in administering to the needy, but it is not a fact that all of us have given "money" to persons who go at once and spend it in a way that destroys both body and soul! Although we may have given willingly, our money is gone and no one helped. To avoid imposition on kindly disposed people who are supporting charity the "Associated Charities" has been organized and all charity work done in the city can be kept account of through a secretary who is to be employed, whose business it will be to see that an investigation of every applicant for assistance is made and if the applicant be found able to work he must be made to help himself and if found unworthy or a regular "hobo" he can be turned over to the officers of the law who can make ample provisions for him.

Experience has taught us that every one who comes with an "endless tale of woe" is not to be placed on "flowery beds of ease." The Associated Charities desires to help the helpless, strengthen the weak and banish the "hobo." In order to do this some one must be paid so that their full time can be given to the work, thus all will be given an opportunity to contribute to this cause.

Handy in Kitchen

Many of the little labor-saving devices are so inexpensive that it seems as if every one should know of them. A quarter used now and then for such conveniences would soon result in a well-equipped kitchen. Not only is it advisable to buy improvements in the line of the saving of real labor, but also little niceties of invention, the use of which gives a dainty touch that is appreciated by the most absent-minded man, although he may never mention it. However, the children always remember all appetizing and attractive ways of serving food and remember them long after they are grown to manhood and womanhood.

The making of good salad dressing, especially mayonnaise dressing, is an accomplishment desired by most housewives, yet the regular salad bowls with oil droppers are more or less expensive and therefore seldom deemed necessary. In the illustration with a faucet at the end, the funnel is the most ingenious device one could find in many a day. It is an oil dropper for making salad and mayonnaise dressing and is hooked on to an ordinary egg beater. The oil is poured into the funnel, the faucet is turned on and while the beater is whisking the eggs the oil is dropping as gradually as one could wish. Many never attempt the making of salad dressing just on account of being unable to add the oil gradually, and now for a quarter it is done automatically.

The four vegetable cutters of various sizes are often used to make soup attractive. Children especially are more likely to eat the vegetables cut in fancy shapes than when cut irregularly, as our mothers did.

The round biscuit cutter is an invention whereby the small adjustable cutter at the side can be screwed in and the biscuit cutter changed at once to a cutter for doughnuts.

The center illustration is an adjustable rubber stopper for a bottle of any size. By holding firmly to the little extended pieces and at the same time pressing down the center disc, the stopper fits in and then as you let go fills up air tight and stays so until you press down when you wish to take it out. Many find this little device very useful, especially for all mineral water bottles.

The carved roller on the left is for rolling across cookie dough and leaving the surface impressed with a pretty design. With this roller and a square cutter, shaped as a parallelogram, the hermits can be made or cookies of the same shape. It takes but a moment to roll over the top of the dough, and older people enjoy a fancy cookie as much as children.

The ice pick and little wooden case to protect the sharp point is ideal. In hospitals they often use a needle or common pin to crack ice in small pieces, and the finer the point, the more easily is ice separated. This ends the little group of ingenious devices whereby cooking may be made more attractive and appetizing.

Neat, But Not Gaudy.

From the land of the Moros a soldier writes: "A Moro matron passed our quarters this morning wearing a heliotrope jacket, purple trousers with large heart designs worked in yellow; blue and pink embroidery; a red and black sarong; yellow plush slippers and yellow silk mantilla. The lady's maid (old) in modest garb, walked behind, carrying a magenta parasol."

Yield Per Acre.

The yield per acre in pounds is as follows for the principal grains, vegetables and fruits: Hops, 442; wheat, 1,260; barley, 1,600; oats, 1,540; peas, 1,920; beans, plums and cherries, 2,000; onions, 2,800; hay, 4,000; pears, 5,000; grass, 7,000; carrots, 6,800; potatoes, 7,500; apples, 8,000; turnips, 8,420; cinquefoil grass, 9,600; cabbage, 10,900; parsnips, 11,200.
